BARDSTOWN THEATRICALS CASTING ORIGINAL PLAY

New community theater company seeks all ages and types for Cinderella the Honest.

Auditions: January, 21st, 1pm-3pm at the Nelson County Library - Main Branch.

Bardstown, Kentucky: Bardstown Theatricals today announced their audition for their upcoming production Cinderella the Honest. They are seeking community members of all types and ages to participate in the show. Auditions are at the Nelson County Public Library from 1pm-3pm on Saturday, January 21st. No experience is necessary to audition. First come, first seen.

“We are delighted to announce that our only pre-cast role is our Cinderella. She will be portrayed by Bardstown’s own Mallory Taylor, a young lady with a lot of stage experience, a lovely voice, an incredible work ethic, and autism.” says Katherine Scott, Artistic Director at Bardstown Theatricals. “This original play weaves together several global versions of the Cinderella story. It takes most of its inspiration from the Slavic tale of Vasilisa. She must save herself from her wicked step-family as well as the Baba Yaga, an evil witch, and finds true love through hard work and bravery. There will be many ensemble and featured roles available. We are looking for quite a few strong adult actors as well as children. We will be performing this at the Civic Center, which will allow us to offer more performances than previous productions and even offer 2 shows for school field trips.”

Rehearsals will be Wednesday and Thursday evenings and Saturday afternoons, February through April. The show performs April 21st-30th at the Nelson County/Bardstown Civic Center.

The show will be directed by Katherine Scott, a recent transplant from southern California. Bio available at www.katherinescottstudio.com

About Bardstown Theatricals: Bardstown and Nelson County’s newest theater group was established by Bardstown native Virginia “Ginny” Roby Holland and recent transplant Katherine Scott in March of this year. They saw a great need in the community for more Performing Arts education and performance opportunities for people of all ages. With a mission statement that focuses on building community, supporting children’s needs for expression, and putting on family-friendly shows, Bardstown Theatricals offers Arts education outreach programs, childrens’ theater summer camp, and community theater productions.
